

Duke TRAVELS

Our Journey Continues

Recovery from the effects of the pandemic together with the personal and social challenges of the past year are giving rise to necessary change and a more sustainable future in travel.

With Duke University leading by example, Duke Travels is charting a course for travel that champions the values that make Duke excellent and us proud.

Duke Travels is committed to working with tour operators and suppliers that incorporate best practices for safeguarding your health as well as in socio-cultural, economic, and environmental sustainability.

At www.duke-travels.com, learn how we are working for:

Duke Travels collaborated with faculty and students at Duke's Nicholas School of the Environment (NSOE) on a two-year project to develop approaches and metrics to monitor and improve environmental impact and journey sustainably.

Currently, Duke Travels is working with a team of Duke students in an NSOE course on "Sustainable Business Strategy" to strategize our program's alignment with Duke's climate commitment. Duke Travels is committed to being a carbon-neutral program by Duke's centennial in 2024.

We believe travel is life changing. We believe travel is world changing.
We also believe these changes need to be for the better.

Exploring Alaska's Coastal
Wilderness, June 12-19, 2022
Lindblad Expeditions
Photo Copyright David Vargas

DUKE.
WE TRAVEL SMART.